

A Word About Definitions:

In the discussion today, and in the documents you review, you may encounter a variety of references to the Downtown Construction Project. That name applies to the work the College is currently engaged in on the south bluff of the Trinity River in Downtown Fort Worth, Texas and does not refer to the “Radio Shack Campus” or the “Trinity River Campus”. All references to the “South Bluff Site,” the “South Bluff Complex,” the “bluff complex,” the “bluff construction,” the “bluff construction site,” the “construction project,” the “construction site,” the “downtown campus,” the “DTC,” the “project,” “The South Trinity Complex,” the “TCCD South Trinity Complex,” the “STC,” the “TCCD Complex,” and so forth are intended to refer to the Downtown Construction Project that is currently under construction by the Joint Venture of Austin Commercial – Con Real, Inc on behalf of the College. If at any time, you believe we are discussing a project other than that project, please take an opportunity to seek clarification.
